MOLLY HASKELL: WOMEN IN FILM VIA ZOOM Wednesday, March 23, 7:00pm

Registration required.
Learn and discuss the history of women in film with one of New York's well known journalists. Molly Haskell was the movie reviewer for The Village Voice, New York Magazine and Vogue, and has written for publications from The New York Times to The New York Review of Books; served on the selection committee of the New York Film Festival; and as associate professor of film at Barnard and as adjunct professor of film at Columbia University. She received a Guggenheim Fellowship in 2010. Her books include From Reverence to Rape: The Treatment of Women in the Movies, and Frankly My Dear: Gone with the Wind Revisited.

COYOTES OF LONG ISLAND VIA ZOOM

Wednesday, March 30, 6:30pm
Registration required.

The seemingly endlessly adaptable Eastern Coyote has recently expanded its range into Long Island. Despite a bad rap, coyotes play an important part in ecological systems, not the least of which is keeping rodent populations in check. Learn more about these intelligent new neighbors and how to peacefully co-exist with them with Frank Vincenti, dubbed "The Coyote Whisperer" by The New York Times.

STACY SOLOVIEV, PERSON OF THE YEAR IN PERSON Friday, April 1, 6:30pm

Registration required.
Meet the Northforker's Person of the Year, Stacy Soloviev. We have all noticed the signs with the Soloviev name across the North Fork. She will talk with the community about being a hands-on entrepreneur, and discuss her business plans for Cutchogue and the positive impact for the community.

OYSTERS AND THE CITY VIA ZOOM Wednesday, April 6, 6:30pm

Registration required.
Learn and discuss the history of oyster farming in New York. The oyster plays a starring role in New York City's history, informing not just the city's menus but also its ecology. When Henry Hudson arrived in New York Harbor, there were more than 220,000 acres of oyster beds below the water. The native

Lenape people introduced European colonists to oysters as food and the bivalves quickly became a staple of the New York diet. New Yorkers' cravings for oysters nearly wiped them from our waters, but the bivalves may yet have a hand in the city's future as various organizations work to boost their population. Sponsored by East End Libraries.

WWII HOMEFRONT: SPIES, SABOTEURS AND SYMPATHIZERS IN NYC VIA ZOOM

Tuesday, April 26, 6:30pm
Registration required.

The United States was about to go to war – and German spies, saboteurs and sympathizers were already plying their trade, embedded in communities throughout New York City. Writer, historian and licensed NYC tour guide Robert Brenner will discuss this chilling, forgotten chapter of NY history on the eve of World War II. Sponsored by East End Libraries.
