GREAT GIVE BACK 2022

The mission of The Great Give Back is to provide a day of opportunities for the patrons of the Public Libraries of New York State to participate in meaningful, service-oriented experiences. Please register for each program separately.

FAMILY COMMUNITY SERVICE PROJECT #1 – Cleanup

Saturday, Oct. 15, 11:00am-1:00pm
(location at a local preserve or park, TBD)

For families, please register each family member. Join us as we celebrate The Great Give Back, where local libraries give back to their community through service oriented projects. This year we will be joining forces with The Group for the East End in stewardship of natural preserves within the town of Southold. Wear attire for cleanup of our most precious nature settings.

FAMILY COMMUNITY SERVICE PROJECT #2 @ Garden of Eden Organic Farm & Market, Riverhead Sunday, Oct. 30, 10:00am-12:00pm

For families, please register each family member. Join us for The Great Give Back, where local libraries give back to their communities. Help glean the farm fields for Long Island Cares, an organization that provides food to pantries across Long Island. Meet at 4558 Sound Ave., Riverhead.

MARINE MEADOWS EELGRASS RESTORATION WORKSHOP (Cornell Cooperative Extension)

Saturday, Oct. 15, 2:00-4:00pm

For Adults and Teens (Grades 5-12). Please register. Eelgrass provides essential habitat to our local marine life, including fish, shellfish, shorebirds and seahorses! Join us at this hands-on workshop to learn more about the importance of eelgrass to our marine environment while helping Cornell Cooperative Extension staff assemble eelgrass planting units for use in local restoration efforts. This workshop is made possible thanks to the National Fish and Wildlife Foundation. This program earns 2 hours of community service.

A RARE LAST LOOK INSIDE THE CAMP Saturday, Oct. 1, 2:00pm

Registration required. The North Fork has a long history of farm labor camps that were home to southern-born Black men and women. One of the very last ones was on Depot Lane in Cutchogue. Former Newsday photographer Viorel Florescu took scores of photographs inside that camp, of the work being done and the residents themselves. His photographs will be displayed in our art gallery from September 20th to October 31st. A reception will follow the presentation in the Upstairs Gallery. Suffolk Times executive editor Steve Wick, who worked with Viorel on documenting the camp, will give the presentation.

LECTURES & SEMINARS

TALES FROM THE TEMPLE OF ISHTAR VIA ZOOM

Friday, Sept. 16, 7:00pm

Registration required.

Discovered in the ruins of the Temple of Ishtar and displayed in a German museum until WWII, the priceless golden Ishtar Tablet vanished in the post-WWII turmoil, only to resurface in 2003 in a Nassau County, NY safe deposit box when its owner died. Attorney Raymond J. Dowd recounts his historic landmark victory representing the museum, in which he succeeded not only in recovering the priceless 3200-year-old Assyrian artifact but also, in the case of Matter of Flamenbaum, overturning the spoils of war doctrine, reaffirming the common law rule that no one can take good title to stolen property. An East End Library Event hosted by Shelter Island Public Library.

EXPLORING PLUM ISLAND'S MARINE HABITATS

Wednesday, Sept. 28, 6:30pm

Registration required.

Dive in with us as we explore the waters around Plum Island! Join Louise Harrison, New York natural areas coordinator with Save the Sound, for an in-person presentation and viewing of the webinar Exploring Plum Island's Marine Habitats. See a hidden world of underwater biodiversity captured on film, and learn what scientists found when they dove beneath the surface.

THE IMPORTANCE OF FOCUS

Thursday, Oct. 13, 7:00pm • Registration required.

Do you find yourself distracted? Do you wish you could be more focused and achieve more? Former illusionist Greg Dwyer will show you how to create real magic in your life for getting more of what you desire. Greg has worked backstage for Doug Henning's The Magic Show and was seen by over six million people on CBS with The Late Show with David Letterman. If you want to get more out of your life, and are willing to focus on making it happen, this interactive, 60-minute workshop is for you.

USA LATIN STYLE VIA ZOOM

Saturday, Oct. 22, 2:00pm • Registration required.

USA Latin Style is an exploration of the roots of Salsa music and dance as it developed in the Latin barrio of NYC. Learn how the mixture of various Latino/Hispanic cultures came together with American, Jazz, Swing and Disco to form the exciting mix we call Salsa. This interactive program combines informative lecture with learning basic Salsa steps.

CHILD OF THE HOLOCAUST

Wednesday, Nov. 9, 6:30pm • Registration required.

Dr. William Reszelbach is a child of Holocaust survivors. His mother was hidden underground in Poland for years while his father was forced to suffer in four separate concentration camps. Dr. Reszelbach will share the memories and lessons his parents passed down to him so the world will never forget this dark period in history.
