BEACHCOMBER '49

In Memoriam

KATHERINE HELEN CHARTERS

The fire of life in you was extinguished so quickly, so unexpectedly; your plans alone, and with ours, were so abruptly smothered; but as these years go on toward the future, each of us in time will meet his destiny. However, though you are not with us now to make real your dreams, you will be near us, living in our memory.

The Class History

T all began back in '45 when a grizzled old prospector told an eager bunch of young tenderfeet "There's gold in them thar hills." From these humble beginnings there trooped across the valleys and plains of Greenport Gulch a motley crew, seeking the many golden opportunities that education has to offer. True, there were obstacles to be overcome and streams to be forded before we were to arrive at the mother lode. After several months of unsuccessful panning, we came upon a nugget tarnished as it was in our freshman production for the Interclass Plays JUNIOR'S FIRST SHAVE, under the direction of Mr. Georgini and Mr. Siminon. In this our first year, we panned a lot of fool's gold, but on the whole it was reasonably profitable.

Our second year of prospecting brought us the calloused hands and feet of experienced though far from hardened prospectors. This year, however, we struck far richer veins than had been encountered in the previous year. Among these sparkling nuggets were the Christmas party of '46 with Wes Burns as MC, and our contribution to the Interclass Plays was HENRY'S MAIL ORDER WIFE. We were led in this enterprise by Mr. Carruthers and Mr. Siminon. For help we called from a passing wagon train John Breese, Wiggie Harris, Dottie Wells, and Arthur Rowland. These four gold seekers aided greatly in making the production a success.

Soon across the sands of time we could see the radiant brilliance of the mother lode gleaming in the distance. Since dust was scarce, in order to obtain a grubstake, we were forced to resort to the lowly food sale. Thus we obtained the necessary dust to finance the yearly shindig which the juniors are accustomed to giving the seniors, Also along came the Interclass Plays directed by Mr. Yates. TOMMY TAKES A WIFE was not too successful as we bowed down to the sophomore outfit. The Junior-Senior Ball was a right fancy hoedown, as we aired out formals and danced till "sun-up." Another successful year was climaxed by the Junior-Senior Picnic held at the Orient State Park.

Soon it was September again and we set out in earnest to glean the golden nugget of education from the streams of opportunity. Hardened prospectors now, we set out on a large scale to procure the necessary dust for our long last trek to the city of Washington. The hidden talent in G. H. S. proved to be a gold mine for this purpose. A successful talent show was presented along with THE THREE OLD MAID AUNTS, our senior play. Under the direction of Miss Conley, this proved to be a hit and still more dust flowed into our money belts.

Mr. Yates, lured on by the hope for greater wealth in Uncle Sam's militia, stole quietly out of the camp and headed for Camp Lee in Virginia.

In the middle of April, we set out on our long haul to Washington under the chaperonage of Mrs. Diller and the professor from the science lab, Mr. Levy. We enjoyed ourselves thoroughly and returned home after four days.

As our last and most profitable year grew to a close, along came the Junior-Senior Ball. Another wonderful evening of soft lights and music was added to our growing memories.

Our senior year drawing swiftly to a close, after we had leaped the last hurdle of Regents, we stood before our most promising strike. What was the outcome? Was it to be success or failure, riches or poverty? This, time alone will determine.

Unto you, the future seniors of 1950, we wish all the success and happiness which have been ours in our brief years in Greenport High School.

Cast Will and Testament

of The Forty-Niners

E, the Forty-Niners, being of unsound mind and lacking memory, do compose, create, publish and declare this our one and only will and testament.

First, with bowed shoulders, broken backs and dusty noses (gold dust, that is), we leave our gold mines (senior home-rooms).

To anyone who will appreciate Gus' corny jokes, ear-splitting "music", and the latest dirt, Diane and Loretta finally surrender their chairs in the Varsity Shop.

Leona Kahn leaves to Margit Triska her outstanding knowledge of French. Mrs. Diller, beware!

Mary Ellen leaves to Bea Rovello her chatter and giggles to help keep the home economics classes lively next year.

Betty Prince leaves her powerful voice to Margaret Hansen.

Bob Fields wills his nickname "Soggy" to Mr. Levy, who may touch it up and pass it on to some poor unsuspecting soul in his next year's physics class.

Fred Gibbs leaves nothing behind except his memory.

Lily Sammis wills her "golden tones" to one whose voice is an equal, Helen Sledjeski.

Lois Verity leaves some of her vivacity and good humor to those undergraduates less fortunately gifted.

Adele leaves her undying devotion to business arithmetic to all future B. A. students.

Jocko Heaney leaves his gymnastic ability to "Crowbar" Busso.

The Mad Chemists (particularly Major) will to next year's chemistry class the remains of the chemistry lab and the remains of Mr. Levy. (May he rest in peace). Bob Kaplan leaves the next Senior Class a large economy size bottle of hair tonic for the males who need the "WOO" look.

Alma and Rosita leave their "applesauce" diction to all future seniors for the sole purpose of baffling the teachers.

Edith and Ann leave the sound of wedding bells in the air.

Bobby Syrett bequeaths to his "dear friend" Alan Richards the right to carry Toot's books next year.

The Seniors will to the undergraduates (Addie, in particular) all their left-over excuse blanks so that they won't have to stay after school for losing them or leaving them home.

Harold Hedges wills his Shakespearian portraits to the future English classes.

Alma wills to Margaret Hansen her locker so she will have plenty of room next year.

Loretta Hubbard leaves her ability in social studies to Bev Powers and Marion Starrs.

The cast of our Senior play leaves the smell of grease paint and the last minute memorization of lines to next year's cast.

Betty and Edith leave their positions in the Library Club to be filled by worthy successors.

"Yosh" leaves to Ray Sullivan all the ambition he has accumulated at G. H. S.

"Bob" MacAslan leaves her accumulation of corn to any underclassman who has the inclination to cultivate it.

Cleveland Howard wills the mike to Ronald Clark to help him become the main element in the future talent shows.

"Mac" and "Hoss" leave their ability to shoot the breeze and the basketball at the same time to all future basketball players.

The present candy sellers will to all future candy sellers a strong-box and an armed guard to protect them against the wiles of a certain sophomore! (F. VW.)

"Peppy" Kalin and Bob Leden leave "their" marshal post near Miss McClellen's door to any fortunate juniors who desire to take over the position of annoying Miss McClellen. (Alan and Johnny?)

Lois, Leona and Irene leave their desks in the study hall which they have faithfully occupied every noon hour to posterity.

The present marshals will to all future marshals the ability to say N O in the face of all opposition.

Bob Syrett leaves his clown suit to Johnny Breeze to help keep the faculty and the students of G. H. S. happy.

Meta wills to Hal Freeman her everlasting drawing ability and hopes that he can use it to help him pass his art regents next year.

Barbara Matthias leaves all of her friendliness and small talk to Rosemary Latham. Let's not be so withdrawn, Rosemary.

Lloyd Kalin leaves a permanent pass to the lockers to Floyd Van Wyck so that he won't have to pretend he has permission.

Ronnie Neal leaves his center position to John Flatley or any other husky individual capable of filling the position.

Charles Leden, duly sworn under the Kraut's Law, leaves to his unfaithful comrade, Joe

Busso, the use of highway 25 to be used at his convenience (starting at Orient Village and continuing to Sound Avenue, Riverhead.)

Bob Fields, Alfred Homan and Cleveland Howard leave their clarinets and tenor sax respectively to any three of Mr. Wilsen's proteges so the dance band may continue ever onward.

Helen Wilson leaves her position in the talent shows to Justine Coulter.

Truman Cook leaves his broad shoulders to future football players so they won't have to use shoulder pads.

The Senior class, on behalf of Miss McClellen, leaves a strait-jacket to a certain character with a camera who likes to take pictures without giving fair warning.

We, the Forty-Niners, resplendent in our top hats and diamond stick-pins, leave behind our gold claims. Having panned our share of gold from the stream of knowledge, we wish the best of luck to our successors.

Finally, WE leave!

Any resemblance to this document and insanity is purely natural. In witness thereof, on this eighteenth day of February, nineteen hundred and forty nine, we subscribe our names:

THE FORTY-NINERS

Junior -- Senior Ball

THE month of May, besides bringing with it the flowers, also brought forth the planning of the juniors and seniors for their annual ball. When actually applied, the plans resulted in the formation of a fantastic fairyland with its colorful flowers and glistening fairies. The sparkling decorations were minor compared to the sparkle in the eyes of the girls, in their gay gowns, as they glided over the floor in the arms of their partners. At one o'clock the dancing ended, and all went home with pleasant memories of a lovely evening.

Class Prophecy

WITH the meager finances we had left after paying all our debts, we were not able to purchase a crystal ball by which to fortell the future of the pioneers in the class of 1949. Therefore we have used a nugget of gold which shines forth the future very brightly. If some of our predictions are inaccurate, it is because some gold dust has settled on our nugget, and caused some futures to appear hazy; this we have taken care of by substituting our own insight for that of the gold nugget.

We predict that Harold Hedges will write a tragedy, far greater than any of Shakespeare's, called "Genius are Misunderstood."

The future shows Robert Leden at a large desk in Washington, taking orders for pictures of the next president's Inaugural Ball.

Frank Thornhill has taken up drafting for "girlie calendars."

Our next peek into the gold nugget shows us parts of an airplane strewn around. Wa' happened? It's only Bob Syrett doing his homework at aviation school!

Mr. F. Gibbs owns a ship of his own called the "Miss E", which he uses for chummy Caribbean cruises.

Robert Kaplan, plus 50 newly acquired pounds, will open a school for female wrestlers.

We predict that Lloyd Kalin will be traveling in Europe singing in all the royal barbershops.

The three great musicians of G. H. S. have opened a night spot called the "Checkerboard Club." Cleveland Howard, Alfred Homan and Bob Fields provide the entertainment under the billing of "interpreted" music.

Barbara McAslan is attending Squirrel College with the rest of the nuts.

Lil Sammis has retired from teaching professionally, now only to teach her own kindergarten.

In the distant future Mary Ellen, you'll have to refrain from day dreaming of Jimmy, if you expect to sit on the bosses' knee for the next four years.

John Heaney and Frank Bondarchuk have organized a men's branch of the W. C. T. U.

"Digger O'Dell" Kalinowski's work is never Monsieur Charles Le Leden has taken over the New York and Paris branches of Charles of the Ritz.

Adele Cowan sits on the right hand of Mr. President translating Russian vetoes.

Rosita De Jesus is now making records in South America billed as Senorita Rosa.

Edith Hepworth is taking a vacation in the mountains from her brood of six.

A "perfect" diamond is hard to find; Loretta Hubbard is trying to make one of Kenny.

Girls! Truman Cook is engaged in a shocking occupation— electricity!

George Turner is going to college to pursue Lana's course.

Florrie Nightingale has nothing on Irene Ozaro. The "Angel of Mercy" is holding many a hand today.

Marjorie Tuthill, kindergarten teacher, has finally had her case brought to the Supreme Court. The opposition to her method of teaching, by her former classmates, the parents of her pupils, is being broken down.

Meta Erickson, the gorgeous Powers model, has been voted "Miss America" 1952. What the art world has lost is gained by the fashion world.

The former Barbara Matthias, now Mrs. Reginald Peterson, has been awarded a prize for being the most charming housewife of the year.

The ambitious nurse, Lois Critchlow, has accepted the position of assistant to a well known psychiatrist. She especially recommends him to some of her many friends.

Alma Taylor, owner of an exclusive beauty salon, has invented a method by which any woman may become beautiful in just seven days!

Leona Kahn has offered to appear in "Carmen", so that her lovely voice may be known to all, also for another less obvious reason.

Diane Ecklund has gone to the great city to work, where there is always a chance to find fame or fortune. She is doing rather well at "Billy's Beanery."

Betty has not found her "prince" charming yet, but one of those babies she takes care of will grow up sometime. Then who knows?

Lois Verity is still in college trying to master the art that was a "sore thumb" in high school days. Remember Lois, that concentrated sulfuric acid plus copper equals water, a sulfate and a salt. The year of 1959 brings good luck to G. H. S. Ronald Neal, outstanding coach, has returned to help bring v-i-c-t-o-r-y to the Greenport eleven.

Ann, are you going to sue for alienation of affections? Tut spends more of his time with those airplanes than he does with you!

The Copacabana is doing a rush business this season. Their feature soloist is none other than Helen Wilson, who really sends them with her renditions of the latest hits.

Washington Trip

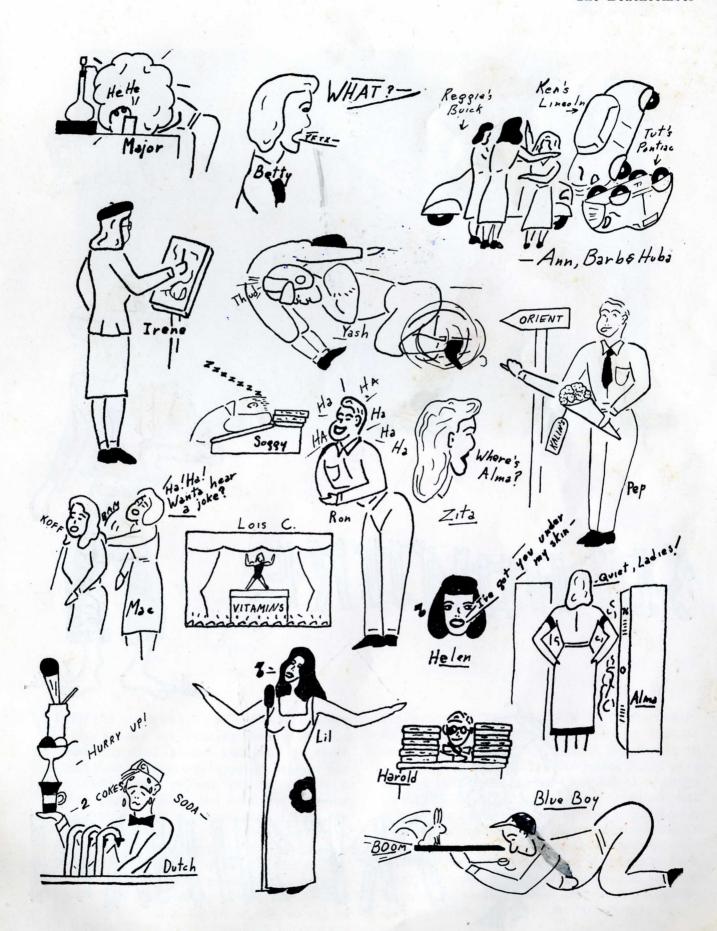

AFTER almost four years of raising funds for this, one of the most anticipated events in our high school days, we finally arrived at the beautiful city of Washington. However, before reaching Washington we visited Philadelphia, where we viewed some of the historical sights. The "sights" were quite different in the boys opinion from those pointed out to us!

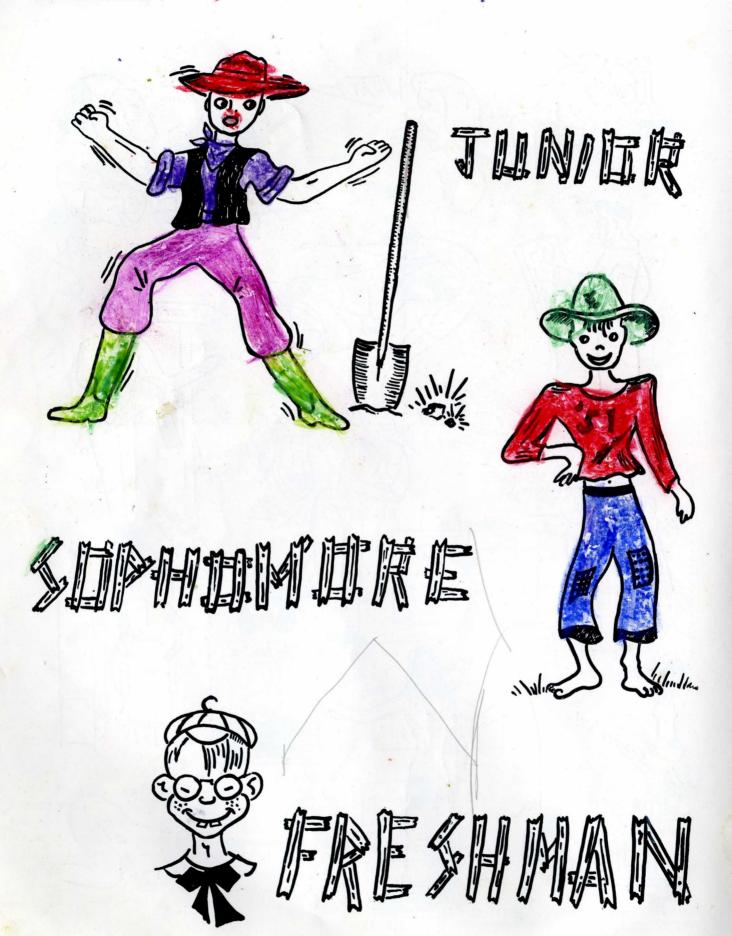

In Washington we saw many things that we shall remember for many years — the beautiful Capitol, the Smithsonian Institute, the impressive Lincoln Memorial, the interesting tour of the F. B. I., the Middies on parade at Annapolis, our visit to Mount Vernon and many others. We were all moved by the grandeur of Arlington Cemetery and the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

We will also remember Jay, our bus driver, and his singing; the warm and favorable weather all during our stay; Mr. Levy's "So Tired"; Mrs. Diller's patience in recovering the "straying lambs"; someone's difficulty in finding a taxi; the hours of sleep we lost; our "friend", the house detective and many other people and incidents.

Our senior trip was a most educational and, at the same time, enjoyable experience. We actually saw many things that before had been to us only pictures and written matter in books. We reluctantly said farewell to Washington, realizing that all good things must come to an end.

WITH the example set by their predecessors the juniors are panning their gold with the assurance that breeds success. In their freshman year the green prospectors started the ball of their social success unwinding with a Valentine party. With the humbleness befitting freshmen, they managed the affair with raw but talented ease. In their sophomore year, assured by the success of their Christmas party, they held a spring dance for the school, proving that they were becoming acquainted with the art of gold seeking. With the able aid of the freshmen they captured the award of the Interclass Plays by the excellent but riotous production of THE VILLAIN FOILED AGAIN. As juniors, they enhanced their already brilliant social career when they treated the seniors to a Hallowe'en party. The Interclass Plays gave them a chance to exhibit their talent again in EVERYTHING NICE, which they produced with spirited enthusiasm. During the Junior-Senior Ball all the social success they could have wished for was reached. The memorable evening was sprinkled with gold dust, and placed with their other achievements on their highway to success, a proof to everyone that they will follow the classes before them with satisfaction to all.

THE sophomores are looking into the future with the assurance of gold seekers who have panned some gold and are expecting more. Their freshman year was spent primarily in learning the arts of gold digging. They exhibited their talent in THE VILLAIN FOILED AGAIN, put on with the sophomores, which won the award of the Interclass Plays. During the past year their big success was a Christmas party to which the whole high school was invited. Thus proving that they were quite adept at the skills of good parties, they skipped on undaunted to the Interclass Plays and, on their own feet, strode through HAPPY JOURNEY, which added another nugget to their collection. With this record behind them, we are sure that their future holds more gold to pave their highway to success.

THE freshmen began their gold digging career with the hesitance peculiar to their kind. As the year progressed, their faltering steps grew firmer and the greenness wore off. Their debut into social life was made with a Valentine party which successfully laid the first of the milestones that are to mark their way through the years. Their ability to rise undaunted to whatever occasion might arise was depicted especially in the Interclass Plays. Due to unforeseen circumstances, their play was called off the very week of the performance, and, under the direction of Mr. Wilsen, they ably presented a musical, MARGIE'S SURPRISE. With the talent and ability that is showing so early, the freshmen undoubtedly will succeed in emulating the classes before them, and in setting a good example for the classes after them.

Library Club

THE Library Club, under the capable direction of Miss Orr, has been very active this year. Old books have been repaired and new books prepared for reading.

During Book Week the new books were placed on the reading tables for inspection. Eight skits were presented by the members in the auditorium for grades one through six. At this time some certificates were presented to those members who had served in the library the previous year.

The library decorations have been interesting and appropriate all year. Credit for the art work is given to Harold Hedges and Shirley Pentz.

The club officers are Stanley Lowe, president; Harold Hedges, vice-president and Helen Sobieray, secretary-treasurer.

The Senior members of the Library Club, Betty Prince, Harold Hedges and Edith Hepworth, say a fond farewell to a club which has afforded them many pleasant hours.

Football

THE 1948 team of Greenport saw the addition of many new players in the lineup. The only veteran players were John Kalinowski, Ronald Neal, Joe Busso and John Heaney.

The team, hampered by injuries throughout the season, never could get their full starting "11" on the field. The boys played spirited ball but couldn't overpower their heavier and more experienced opponents.

John Heaney and Raymond Copin alternated at the quarterback position, both doing a creditable job in handling the team. John Kalinowski, the veteran fullback, did his usual outstanding job, both on offense and defense. Alan Richards and Franklin Howard filled out the halfback positions, and both of these "speed-boys" chalked up many gains. On the line, Ronald Neal did a fine job as center and line backer-up. Joe Busso and Alex Georgi made a fine pair of guards and between them stopped many a line play. Clive Tyrer and Richard Monsell were the hard plugging tackles who managed to stop many a play before it got started. The end positions were capably filled by Frank Thornhill and John Rempe, both of whom showed their worth on offense as well as defense.

The substitutes who saw much action throughout the season and who deserve much praise are Edward Davis, Ronald Clark, Charlie Leden, Robert Syrett, John Breeze, Robert Ostroski, Henry Wernikowski and John Flatley.

Basketball -- Varsity

GREENPORT'S basketball squad had one of their poorest seasons this year. The boys scored a very low record of one win and nine defeats in league competition.

Bob Syrett, captain of the team, played left guard and was very efficient capturing rebounds. Joseph Busso was the right guard and was credited as being an outstanding defensive player. The center position was capably filled by John Breeze who was very effective tapping in rebounds. This position was also held by John Rempe alternating between center and guard. At the forward positions were Franklin Howard, a fast player and a good shot; Ron Neal, a hard driving player who was always trying; Ray Copin, a tricky ball handler and good team player; Ed Davis, well known for his scoring ability on his pet hook shot.

Junior Varsity

THE Junior Varsity team concluded the season with a good record of nine wins and six losses. The starting team was made up of a smooth-working combination of Robert Brown, Robert Leggon, John Flatley, John Wetmore and Terry Overton.

John Flatley operated in the center position and was very effective on rebounds and onehand shots. Terry Overton was the left forward, a fast, shifty player. John Wetmore, a right forward, came up late in the season and proved an asset to the team. Robert Brown, captain and left guard, was a smooth ball handler and was very effective on a one-hand push shot from the side. Robert Leggon, a remarkable player on defense, was the steadiest man on the team and had an uncanny eye on set shots. The team was aided by the reserves George Proferes and Donald Ostroski.

Baseball

GREENPORT'S baseball team has started practice early this year for its scheduled ten league games for this season. The team has a good fielding unit but lacks hitting ability. The starting lineup for the season will include John Kalinowski as pitcher; John is a veteran player of several years now and is a top-rate pitcher in the league. Taking over the catching duties once again will be John Heaney. Lou Mazzo, playing his first year on the G. H. S. nine, has taken over the duties of the first baseman. Ray Copin plays second base for his second year; he proved his ability in that position last season.

At shortstop is John Rempe, a new man in the lineup who has the promise of a good ball player. At third base is Franklin Howard, also a veteran of last season. John Flatley, another new man on the team, has taken over left field. In center field there is Frank Thornhill, who proved his ability as a fly-chaser last season. In right field there is Bob Syrett, who, hampered by an injury last season, is again fit to play.

The reserve players who deserve much credit are: Ed Davis, pitcher; Robert Leggon, Harry Lewis and John Rempe, infielders; John Breeze and Whitey Skrezec, outfielders.

Track

THE track team, with Mr. Tompkins as assistant coach, has an excellent line up for the East End and Suffolk County Meets. In the running events, Lou Mazzo, Ray Copin, Alan Richards, Franklin Howard and Albert Dinizio made up the relay team; Ken Sperling and Ronald Clark are doing the quarter mile; Alex Georgi and Donald Ostroski the half mile; Ernie Macomber and John Smith are doing the mile.

Clive Tyrer took over the assignment of discus throwing and Henry Wernikowski the shot-putting. Albert Dinizio has taken over the assignment of pole vaulting.

The Beachcomber

Bowling

THE Greenport Bowling team, with Mr. Nye acting as assistant coach, had as its members: Joe Busso, Jack Heaney, Ron Neal, Frank Horn, Fred Hulse and Henry Wernikowski.

The team, unable to make arrangements for practice games, entered the Class A bowling match at Riverhead, totally unprepared for the stiff competition encountered. Although a few good games were bowled by our team, we could not beat the more experienced teams. By losing this match we were eliminated from the league tournaments, which spelled finish to our bowling for the season.

Although three of last year's bowlers were back this year, we missed the valuable bowling ability of Tom Santacroce, last year's high scorer.

Girls' Sports

THROUGHOUT this school year of '48-'49, the field of sports for girls has been exceptionally versatile.

The girls inaugurated the fall of '48 with an activity that made its debut in G. H. S., namely the exciting game of field hockey. In all probability, this activity will prevail in years to come. The apple may have been William Tell's objective while shooting his trusty arrow, but the G. H. S. girls were aiming for the bull's eye during their archery sessions. Badminton and tennis were among the other activities made available for the girls.

Soon winter enveloped itself about G. H. S. and as the cold wind whistles around the corners of the buildings, another familiar whistle is quite audible, that of basketball, one of the most popular mid-winter sports.

Winter checks out, but the long, low rumble that may be heard is not a sign of complete departure of winter. This noise, that is almost incessant at the Sunrise Bowling Alleys, is created by throwing a bowling ball down the alleys of the popular trysting place of the high school crowd.

The echo of these activities still rings throughout the foundations of Greenport High School only to be resumed again next year.
